

Why I'm showing this movie.*

The movie deals with issues that we have dealt with in class. Peer pressure, honesty, friendship, loyalty, love, fidelity, forgiveness, patriotism, escape and alcohol, and, of course, sacrifice.

I think it gives you a good idea of how difficult (and important) it can be to live according to one's own values and ideals. I hope you enjoy it. It's a treat I think you have earned. It's also one of my favorite films. If you have questions or want to discuss the movie, feel free to email me <tonysensei@mac.com>.

Cast:

Rick Blaine (Humphrey Bogart)
Ilsa Lund (Ingrid Bergman)
Victor Laszlo (Paul Henreid)
Capt. Louis Renault (Claude Rains)
Major Heinrich Strasser (Conrad Veidt)
Sam (Dooley Wilson)
Signor Ferrari (Sydney Greenstreet)
Signor Ugarte (Peter Lorre)

You can find out more about the movie here:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Casablanca_\(film\))
http://ja.wikipedia.org/wiki/カサブランカ_\(映画\))
<http://www.imdb.com/title/tt0034583/>

The DVD can be rented from most Tsutaya stores and is available for purchase from amazon.co.jp.

Casablanca is a city in Morocco in northern Africa that at the time was a French possession. Many European refugees escaped to Casablanca, fleeing from the Nazis in World War II, hoping to get from Casablanca to Lisbon, Portugal, and then to the U.S.