Ivory Coast = France = Japan, in language habits at least - James Fallows

In this scene from Dan Chaon's very memorable mistaken-identity novel, Parlez-vous anglais?

"I speak English." was not exactly a British-accented answer. It was the inaudible, barely audible, not-quite-expletive from an African woman in the shop:

"Parlez-vous anglais?"

"No, I speak no English."

"What语言 do you speak?"

"I speak English."

"Do you speak English?"

"I speak English."
